944's choice Huntley Hotel Presidential Suite

Craving the ultimate in beach bum luxury? Venture to the coast for this new glamorous beachside oasis that you won't find if you're stuck in the Hollywood Hills. After an $18 million renovation, the Huntley Hotel in Santa Monica has unveiled its redesigned Presidential Suite, located high above the Pacific Ocean coastline on the 17th floor. When guests walk into the 1,000-square-foot urban hideaway, they will be in awe of the wall of windows that give a panoramic view of the beach and Los Angeles cityscape. Pale blue accents are set against a white backdrop to give a fresh feel throughout the suite's living and dining areas as well as the master bedroom and bath. Both sides of the master bedroom also have sliding doors, making this modern suite perfect for either entertaining guests or an intimate affair. In addition to the sleek and stylish interior, special amenities include a wet bar with a wine refrigerator, iPod docking station, wireless high-speed Internet, Versailles bed linens and Gilcrest & Soames bath accessories to heighten the experience. Here, the world is truly one's oyster.
